

Seashell

by James W. May

We shall see
if this is a sound
that comes and goes.

We shall see
what no one else knows;
the echoes in the ears
resound my deepest fears
when no one else is near;
no one hears what I hear.